Band Profile

JASON MIRANDA is the engine that makes Lemongrass go. A keyboard player by training, Jason switched instruments to explore the different tonal possibilities of guitar. Favourite artists include a varied assortment of classical and contemporary composers, especially Coldplay and The Beatles. Jason handles the male lead vocal on most songs, as well as backing vocals and harmony whenever possible.

MALAIKA DE SOUZA is an indispensable part of the unique 'Lemongrass' sound. Her raw lead singing and backing vocals brings life to songs that would otherwise feel generic.

ANAND LOBO brings the spice to the table with two uncommon instruments - mandolin and viola - as well as performing percussion, and occasionally using a looper pedal. When the need arises he also fills in lead and backing vocals, completing the three-part vocal harmonies that Lemongrass is known for. Having studied as an engineer, Anand also handles sound setup for Lemongrass, and hand-built the instrument pickups on his mandolin and viola.

Lemongrass originally started with Joy Dawson on guitar and his sister Cecilia Dawson on vocals, as a duo performing at home. Anand met Joy by chance in 2014 and immediately joined the group to form Lemongrass Acoustic Trio.

As Joy and Cecilia have moved on to other endeavours, we now have Jason Miranda on guitar and Malaika de Souza as our lead singer.

Lemongrass Acoustic Trio has performed at Waves music festival at BITS-Pilani, The Fisherman's Wharf Bangalore, Alila Diwa Goa, and various weddings, events, and restaurants in North and South Goa.
